

Dear Hebron Missions Partner,

We pray this email finds each of you well. We want to update you on the spring break mission trips and the discussions we have had concerning coronavirus. We have been monitoring the situation and watching for what organizations, businesses, and other churches are doing in response. Therefore, we have decided to postpone all of our spring break mission trips. These trips are Cuba, India, Peru, Romania and Uganda.

What does this mean for our Partners? We are currently working with the airlines to figure out all of our air travel options. What we know at this moment is that all change fees are being waived, meaning that our tickets can be transferred to another future trip dates for up to one year with no penalty. We are asking our partners to look at their calendar and give us some potential dates for future trips. Once we have finalized these dates with you we will make these opportunities available to our trip participants.

We appreciate your understanding of the decision that was made. We also know that there may be questions as a result of our decision. Please feel free to reach out and ask questions. Our supportive team is available to walk through this situation with you and help you in any way we can. We are truly grateful for your partnership and your daily sacrifice each day to advance God's Kingdom among the Nations. Remember, your labor is not in vain!

We are praying for you, praying for those affected by this virus and praying that God would use this situation to fuel our faith and above all, advance His gospel for His glory!
